"Friends."

Together with his talented wife and co-star, Selena Fetter, Mr. Royle will be seen again in "Friends" at the Salt Lake Theater on Monday night, after an absence of some six years. It has been many months almost years since Mr. and Mrs.

Royle appeared on the local stage, and hundreds of their old friends will welcome Ned and his wife home again on Monday night. He is among the foremost of Utah's talented men, who have sought, and won fame abroad, and "Friends" will receive the fine reception it deserves. Returning to it again this season, Mr. Royle again demonstrated the conscientious scruples with which he follows his profession by rewriting "Friends" and eliminating a number of those incidents which he had come to believe, after much careful consideration and years of experiment, to be hindrances to the action and unnecessary to the plot. His judgment has everywhere been vindicated, and not only is the play said to be more interesting than ever, but both Mr. Royle and his charming wife are said to have improved with their long vacation and to be playing "Friends" with more consummate art than during their previous brilliant career. The company includes Miss Mabel Dixey, Miss Irene Gray, Mr. Emmet Shackelford, Mr. H. B. Bradley and Mr. Writer Cramer.

WOMEN'S EYES

Are very sensitive when defective. Many women complain of severe headaches after returning from a drive, walk or theatre. This is caused by uncorrected eye strain and can be entirely relieved by properly fitted lenses. We have had many such cases and all are fitted successfully. We want your name on our lens record.
